Here is A Major Breakthrough In Odor Control

We would like to introduce to you Epoleon Odor Neutralizers. Our neutralizers are a unique alternative in odor control. Epoleon neutralizes by means of chemical reaction, counteraction and absorption. This enables Epoleon to react with a variety of gases (acidic, neutral and alkaline) simultaneously. Epoleon products work to neutralize odorous gases and eliminate the source of odors, not just cover them up as most masking agent do. We have been in odor neutralizer business since 1986 in the United States.

Our N-100 and N-7C products offer a new alternative for controlling air-borne odors such as Hydrogen sulfide, Methylmercaptan, Trimethylamine and Ammonia that coming from various applications. Both formulas work by method of chemical reaction, and also provide a fresh scent during application. The fragrance is designed to act as a counteraction method against odors, not to mask.

Please take a moment to look through the enclosed information and see for yourself how effective Epoleon can be for your everyday needs.

If you have any additional questions or concerns or would like product samples, please feel free to contact our office.

Thank you again for your interest and consideration.

Sincerely,
